THE ACADEMY

Training the judicial officers in order to equip them to face the challenges of the profession is not simply logical but inevitability for effectively performing the most delicate of functions in the governance structure. The judicial organ of the state has the responsibility to protect the rights of the people and also has the duty to ensure that other organs of the state do not overreach the dimensions of the power as has been vested in them within the constitutional and legal framework.

By its very nature, this function involves confronting friction of various intensities at various levels. Resolution of disputes is never likely to be popular profession as it will always involve having to make difficult yet necessary decisions. Thus, a judicial officer should not only have the backbone of sound legal knowledge and reasoning, he/she also must have a balanced mind and a committed attitude to deal with the pressures of the profession.

Inability to handle the accompanying pressures is very likely to impair the judicial objectivity and righteous strength of a judicial officer which would consequentially erode the public confidence on the integrity and capacity of the institution.

These pressures and challenges are unique in the life of a judicial officer and the nature of these challenges is likely to vary in different stages of the profession.

Thus it is imperative that judicial officers who are part of this challenging environment are afforded the best possible training and orientation so that they do get strengthened in the face of reality.

This need of training and orientation is relevant not only at the entry level but also as a continuous up-gradation of one's skills and aptitude. The justice delivery mechanism is but a collective of these judicial officers who operate the closest to the socio-political environment of the country. The efficacy of this system is dependent on the collective capacity of the judicial officers to respond to the challenges of our times.

Continuous judicial education and training in a systematic and organized manner are effective tools to increase the efficiency and efficacy of the judicial system.

To upgrade the requisite skills, knowledge and attitude of the judicial officers, the State Judicial Academies have to operate accordingly. The recommendation of the Law Commission in a series of reports culminating in the one hundred and seventeenth report, emphasized the need for continuous judicial education and formulated its basic aim in the following words:

"The basic aim of training briefly spelt out is to equip the trainees not only with tools to execute their work, but to endow them with vision as to what is expected of the system which they serve. What is meant by Justice? What is decision making process? What are the goals of the Constitution? What is the direction in which law must move? What does the dictum justice according to law imply?"

In the All India Judges' Association Case (AIR 1992 SC 165) and in the order on the Review Petition (AIR 1993 SC 2493), the Supreme Court declared the urgent need to organize judicial education on a systematic basis through National and State Judicial Academies. Then, the Supreme Court in a more recent case i.e., All India Judges Association V Union of India {(2002) 4 SCC 247} laid emphasis on in-depth training for Judicial Officers.

At the turn of the century, the training programme for judicial officers was in a marginalized state due to want of proper space and infrastructure. The most helpful training at that stage was perhaps the experience a newly appointed judicial officer earned by sharing the dais along with Senior Judges to observe day-to-day proceedings in the Court. Useful as it may have been, it was training under personalized guidance without any institutional capacity building. The values which should underline the framework of training were not adequate institutionalized.

A decision was made by the Hon'ble High Court of Orissa on 30.03.2001 to establish a Judicial Academy to enhance the learning and training to be imparted to Judicial Officers in the State of Odisha. The vision was to provide a platform to Judicial Officers so that they could be enabled to strive for excellence in their endeavour to dispense justice. The decision was implemented by the State Government by establishment of a permanent Judicial Academy for Odisha at the old building of Board of Revenue, Cuttack. On 02.04.2003. It was in this background Odisha Judicial Academy came into existence on 20th December, 2003. The Odisha Judicial Academy was inaugurated on 20th December 2003 by Hon'ble Dr. Justice A.Pasayat, Judge ,Supreme Court of India, in presence of Hon'ble Shri Justice Sujit Barman Roy ,Chief Justice of Odisha,& Dr.N.R. Madhava Manon ,Director National Judicial Academy, Bhopal with the objective of imparting training to newly recruited judicial officers as well as for in-service judges and others. The inaugural function was attended by Hon'ble Judges of High Court of Orissa, District & Sessions Judge, Registrar General, High Court of Orissa, Principal Secretary Law, Govt. of Odisha and Officers from District Judiciary.

The training programme has different components like field training, aptitude orientation, development of judicial attitude and awareness of ethical conduct in addition to the strengthening of legal knowledge and reasoning. The Academy has developed customized training programme not simply for newly recruited Judicial Officers & in-service Judicial Officers but has also designed refresher programmes for other state holders like Public Prosecutors, members of Juvenile Justice Board, Police Officers, Mediators, Conciliators, Court Managers & others.

Within a decade, the Odisha Judicial Academy has been able to provide new dimensions to the training of judicial officers which earlier were unexplored. Now all judicial officers joining the Odisha Judicial Service undergo a planned and systematic training programme which is oriented to their wholesome development as judicial officers.

Today, it is not possible for anyone to stay away or ignore information technology. As no activity, be it commerce, industry, communication, defence, medicine, education and even entertainment is possible without the use of information technology.

Practically, the Information Technology has become integral part of everybody's life. This branch is fast developing and in fact for the growing nations including India, there is a great need to keep pace with latest development in information technology. If we look back some of the technological developments that changed the life of humankind like automobile, telephone, medical science, printing technology, electrical and nuclear energy etc. we find that they have brought dramatic improvements and changes in our lifestyle.
